Fred W. Friendly

Commencement Speaker

Recipient, Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters Degree

Fred Friendly has spent virtually his whole life in journalism: practicing it, shaping it, teaching it and documenting it.

Shortly after earning a bachelor's degree from Nichols College in Dudley, Massachusetts, in 1936, Friendly embarked on what would be a stellar career. After a humble beginning at a radio station in Providence, Rhode Island, he went on to become a decorated World War II veteran, serving as an instructor and correspondent.

Returning home, Friendly began producing documentaries and news-oriented programs for NBC. He moved to CBS where he developed a special friendship with Edward R. Murrow. Working with Murrow, Friendly became executive producer, responsible for See It Now. He was also the originator and executive producer of CBS Reports.

In David Halberstam's book, Powers That Be, a historical look at U.S. news reporting, "The excellence (Friendly) brought to CBS was not happenstance; it was as if he were driven by an inner fury to be the best. Knowing he was going into television and knowing nothing about film, he set out to master it. He went to the Museum of Modern Art and studied film there, looked at everything they had . . . and demanded to know who was good in documentary film, and demanded that they explain what worked and what did not work. And then he set out to find the best technicians around so he could build the best team."

" . . . Part of Friendly's strength was his excessiveness, his passion; he became excited about what he was doing . . . the more difficult the idea, the better he responded—he was excited, not frightened by challenges."

His enthusiasm served him well. Less than 20 years out of the military, he was named president of CBS News, a post he held for two years before becoming communications adviser to the president of the Ford Foundation.

In 1968 he was named the Edward R. Murrow Professor of Journalism and Chairman of the Broadcast Program at Columbia University, a position he held for seven years while directing a minority journalism program there. He has held the position of Edward R. Murrow professor emeritus and director of Columbia's Seminars on Media and Society since 1981. The intensive courses he taught at the graduate level focused on decision making and the Bill of Rights. His former students number in the thousands, and one said, "He is not just a teacher, but an igniter."

His creativity triumphed again, when in 1974 he developed and directed Media-Law Seminars. To date, more than 500 of these seminars have been conducted exploring such subjects as business and the media, investigative reporting, terrorism, libel and medical, military, legal and personal ethics.

An impressive list of visiting and distinguished professorships at Bryn Mawr, Yale University and Dartmouth College are also part of Friendly's accomplishments.

In 1984 he shared his views in The Constitution: That Delicate Balance, written with Martha J.H. Elliott to accompany the television series, and earlier, Minnesota Rag, which commemorated the 50th anniversary of Near v. Minnesota, a landmark Supreme Court case on freedom of the press. His previous publications include Due to Circumstances Beyond Our Control and The Good Guys, The Bad Guys and The First Amendment.

In the same category, 70 of his seminars have aired on PBS. These series include Managing Our Miracles: Health Care in America, exploring the complex ethical, social and legal questions raised by modern medicine; The Presidency and the Constitution, focusing on presidential powers; Ethics in America, discussing medical, legal and personal ethics; and Hard Drugs, Hard Choices, dealing with the scourge of drugs in the United States.

In 1986 Friendly came to Richmond and moderated the forum "The Ethics of Public Relations and Marketing: Public Uses of Private Information in Health Care," at the annual health ethics conference sponsored by the Department of Health Administration at Virginia Commonwealth University.

In spite of his academic and broadcast activities, Friendly has found time to participate on various boards, the most recent being his service as head of Charter Revision Commission for the City of New York.

Married to Ruth Weiss Friendly, Fred Friendly is the father of six grown children.

Oliver W. Hill

Recipient, Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters Degree

As Oliver W. Hill was quoted in Richard Kluger's 1976 book, Simple Justice, a chronicle of early civil rights cases, "I went to law school so I could go out and fight segregation." Mr. Hill's singular quest for equality has led him through a law career that began in 1934 and continues today at the firm he helped establish, Hill, Tucker & Marsh.

Throughout the 1930s and 1940s, interrupted only by military service during World War II, Mr. Hill's civil rights efforts focused on attempts to equalize segregated facilities for black Virginians under the as yet unchallenged "separate but equal" doctrine. Pay equity for public school teachers, the quality of public school facilities, equal employment opportunities and pay for firemen and railway workers are some of the cases that Mr. Hill vigorously represented throughout the state.

Mr. Hill became the subject of national attention in 1948 when he became the first black elected to Richmond City Council since Reconstruction.

As barriers to equal employment, salary and education began to crack, Mr. Hill refocused his efforts on desegregating public facilities in Virginia. His efforts culminated in 1954 when he and other civil rights attorneys, among them, friend and fellow civil rights luminary, Spottswood W. Robinson III, represented black students in Prince Edward County. In Prince Edward, as in all other Virginia counties, schools were segregated. Their efforts to desegregate schools there led the case all the way to the Supreme Court of the United States under the umbrella of the Brown v. the Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas case. The outcome of the now famous Supreme Court decision led to the dissolution of the "separate but equal" doctrine, and ruled segregation to be inherently unequal.

Other efforts in which he participated included fair housing, the right to serve on juries, equal access to public transportation, and voting rights.

Mr. Hill has also held several federal appointments. In 1952 he became a member of the first President's Committee on Government Contracts Compliance, known later as the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. From 1961 to 1966, he was with the Federal Housing Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

He is the recipient of numerous awards from universities, political organizations, bar associations and community groups. Of the many, his favorites are the Charles H. Houston Medallion of Merit, awarded by the Washington Bar Association in 1976 for his contributions to the Brown case, and the Richmond Bar Association's Hill-Tucker Public Service Award, which he received in 1989.

Born in Richmond in 1907, Mr. Hill is a graduate of Howard University where he received a bachelor's degree and a law degree.

Wayne Medal

The Wayne Medal was established in 1971 to honor individuals who have made outstanding contribution or provided exemplary service to Virginia Commonwealth University.

Awarded by the president at commencement, the medal is named in honor of Edward A. Wayne, chairman of a commission that planned to establish a state-supported university in the Richmond metropolitan area. With the commission's recommendation and the General Assembly's approval, Virginia Commonwealth University was established in 1968.

Mr. Wayne also served as the university's first vice rector.

Sophia Gumenick Nathan Gumenick

Recipients, Wayne Medal

When administrators at the Medical College of Virginia Hospitals identified a need for specially designed rooms that would offer luxurious accommodations and the personal service of a deluxe hotel, while in the confines of one of the finest medical facilities in the country, Sophia and Nathan Gumenick readily pledged their support to the project.

Patients who have recuperated in the pleasant and relaxing environment of the Sophia and Nathan Gumenick Suites have remarked that the surroundings contributed to their recoveries.

The medical team that staffs the six-suite unit located on the ninth floor of MCV Hospitals' Main Hospital also have acknowledged that the home-like, comfortable setting complements the healing process.

Complete with 18th-century reproduction furniture, oriental rugs and an entertainment center, each suite offers amenities normally found in private hospitals. In addition, most of the suites contain two rooms—one for the patient and a spacious multipurpose room where, if requested, a family member could stay overnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Gumenick, Richmond natives who now reside in Miami Beach, have made a lifetime commitment to support causes in health care and education.

In March 1983, the Mt. Sinai Medical Center of Greater Miami opened the two-story, 36,000 square foot Sophia and Nathan Gumenick Ambulatory Care Center. The Albert Einstein College of Medicine in Miami Beach, the University of Miami School of Medicine, the Women's Cancer League and the Heart Association of Greater Miami are just some of the health-oriented causes to which the Gumenicks have contributed over the years.

Moreover, VCU is not the only Virginia institution of higher education to profit from Mr. and Mrs. Gumenick's sponsorship. The College of William and Mary and the University of Richmond have also benefited from the Gumenick's philanthropic support. For example, Mr. and Mrs. Gumenick have established a professorship in Judaic studies at the College of William and Mary.

Among the Gumenicks' other major interests are the Federated Jewish Charities of Richmond and Miami.

As pioneers in the real estate and building industry, the Gumenicks played a major role in the post-World War II development of Miami Beach. In 1959, he built the first high-rise apartment complex in Miami, the Southgate Towers.

As chairman of the board for Gumenick Properties, Mr. Gumenick developed numerous residential communities in Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke. His company is also responsible for building tens of thousands of homes and apartments in Virginia, Maryland and Florida.

It is with great pleasure and sincere appreciation that Virginia Commonwealth University presents the Wayne Medal to Sophia and Nathan Gumenick.

The University Medallion

In 1984, Virginia Commonwealth University commissioned R. Daniel Booton to strike a university medallion to be worn by the president on ceremonial occasions. The University Medallion is hand-carved and designed in 24-karat gold-leafed bronze, created as a perpetual symbol of Virginia Commonwealth University.

The Medallion uses Egyptian hieroglyphics and mythological and real images to represent the University's contributions in teaching, research and service.

The Egyptian Building on the Medical College of Virginia campus was selected as the centerpiece because of its significance as a historical and architectural landmark. The oldest medical building in the South, it is considered the best example of Egyptian Revival architecture in the United States.

The building is flanked on the left by Isis, goddess of medicine, the arts, the home and the community. On the right is Toth, shown in his guise as the Ibis scribe of the gods. He is the master of writing and god of wisdom, numbers, measures and time.

Above the building is the glyph for "A to Z," which represents knowledge and the role of the university. Isis offers the Ankh, the symbol of life, while Toth, holding the scroll of wisdom, blesses Virginia Commonwealth University.

The central grouping is surrounded by Nut, goddess of the sky, and Geb, god of the earth. The recumbent god forms mountains and valleys with its contorted body and thereby represents the earth sciences. Nut arches over the earth and symbolizes the cosmos and physical sciences. The Eye of Ra, the sun, travels across her back and is shown at its zenith, representing Virginia Commonwealth University's rise to greatness.

RECIPIENTS OF DEGREES

Due to rigid time requirements, this program must be printed before the final list of degree candidates can be determined. The exclusion of the name of a student is not to be taken as indication of official status as a non-graduate, nor is the inclusion of the name of a student to be taken as certification of official status as a graduate.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

Academic costume worn today at American college exercises goes back in its essential features to the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe, such as Paris and Oxford, grew out of church schools, and both faculty and students were regarded in the Middle Ages as a part of the clergy. They wore clerical costumes, largely borrowed from the monastic dress of that day not just on special occasions, but as their regular costume.

The head covering of the academic costume developed from the skull cap worn by the clergy in cold weather to protect their tonsured heads. In the universities, this skull cap acquired a point on top, which gradually evolved into a tassel. The bonnet with tassel is still worn by degree holders of European universities. In America, it has been replaced by the familiar mortar board, which still retains the mediaeval tassel.

The hood (the mediaeval caputium) was originally a covering worn over the head in bad weather, otherwise dropped on the shoulders as the monk's cowl. At first it was worn by faculty and students alike, but in the early sixteenth century it was restricted to graduates, thus it became the mark of a degree holder. Today, each college has its distinctive hood lining by which its graduates may be recognized in academic processions. Anyone with a degree from Virginia Commonwealth University may wear a hood showing a black chevron on gold background.

The gown worn today is the mediaeval roba and seems to have been borrowed from the habit of the Benedictine monks. In the Middle Ages, undergraduates, bachelors and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or elaborateness of their gowns. The doctor's gown was often furred — this survives today in the ornamentation found on the doctoral gowns. Usually the gown is black, but some colleges have colored gowns.

The wide velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bars on the sleeves, and the borders of most hoods are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer. Some of these are:

THE UNIVERSITY

Virginia Commonwealth University is a comprehensive, state-assisted university with over 21,000 students pursuing undergraduate, graduate, and professional studies on two campuses. VCU was created July 1, 1968 by an act of the Virginia General Assembly that merged Richmond Professional Institute with the Medical College of Virginia. Today, the two campuses blend the old and the new, with historic homes adapted into offices and classrooms amidst modern new high-rise buildings.

Approximately 175 fields of study are offered on the two campuses of the University. The Academic Campus, located in Richmond's historic fan district, houses the College of Humanities and Sciences, and the Schools of the Arts, Business, Community and Public Affairs, Education, Mass Communications, and Social Work. The Medical College of Virginia Campus, one and one-half miles east of the Academic Campus in Richmond's downtown business district, houses the Schools of Allied Health Professions, Basic Health Sciences, Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Graduate Studies.

Virginia Commonwealth University maintains a strong position as an integral force in the area's cultural, educational, and economic life. This ranges from offering more than 200 concerts a year in the Performing Arts Center, including concerts by the highly acclaimed VCU Jazz Orchestra, to developing a series of revitalization plans for targeted areas of the City of Richmond.

Ranked among the top universities in terms of funded research, VCU received over $71 million dollars during the 1989-90 fiscal year to fund research projects on both campuses. The university is the site of the nation's fourth largest university-affiliated teaching hospital and offers quality health care services to more than 30,000 patients annually.

High quality academic instruction is provided by a 2,100 member faculty, 79% of whom hold terminal degrees, distinguished in both teaching and research. University Library Services supports the instructional programs with James Branch Cabell Library on the Academic Campus and the Tompkins-McCaw Library on the Medical College of Virginia Campus. Library holdings exceed 860,000 books and 8,400 journal subscriptions, and are supplemented by special collections in the arts, sciences, humanities, and biomedical areas.

More than 75,000 students have taken advantage of VCU's programs of excellence, its prime location, its flexible class schedule, and the relationships formed with fellow students. The success of our graduates and academic excellence of our faculty enhance VCU's position as one of the most important institutions of higher education in the United States.

Virginia Commonwealth University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Institution.
